SUPREME COURT DECISIONS. terstate Commerce Commission Lases Suft Against the Burlington.

WASHINGTON, June 2. The Supreme Court to-day adjourned for the term, after having announced opinions and decisions in twenty-six cases. Among them was that of the Interstate Commerce Commission vs. the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company. the court sustaining the judgment of the courts below in favor of the railroad company. This result in the Supreme Court was due, Justice White said, to the inconsistencies in the findings of fact by the commission and their reports upon the petitions filed with them to remedy the unreasonable rates complained of. The action of the Supreme Court, it was further declared, was not in prejudice of the right of the commission to reconcile these inconsistencies and proceed further against the railroad company.

In this case was involved the stock yard charge of $2 a car, made by the railroad company after the stock vard company had put into force a schedule of charges against the railroad company of from 80 cents to $1 50 a car for the use of its tracks. For years there had been no charge either to the railroads or by them to the shippers. The commission, when the complaint was made, ordered that the terminal charge be reduced to $1 a car. The railroad companies refused to obey the order, and proceedings were begun against the Burlington road to enforce the order. In the meantime, a general reduction of $15 a car in the freight rates on live stock to Chicago had been made. The comm ission said, disposing of one branch of the question, that the through rate must be considered, but upon another branch that it could not be considered. In view of all the facts in

GRAVITY COOLING MACHINE.

THE INVENTION OF PROF. MOORE OF THE WEATHER BUREAU.

Not Only Reduces the Temperature in Room, but Cleanses and Makes the Air Dry and Healthful Works Automatically and Requires No Motive Power

WASHINGTON, June 2 - The gravity apparatus for cooling dwellings, invented by Prof. Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Wenther Bureau, patents for which were recently secured, was placed in operation for public demonstration to-day. The machine looks like a cylinder stove, and the inventor says will in time come to be considered as essential to the comfort of a dwelling in summer as heating apparatus in winter. Prof. Moore says that the cost of cooling a given space with his machine is approximately he same as that of heating the same space this, the different uses to which the machine may be put are unlimited. He expects i to prove of great value to hospitals, particularly for reducing the temperature of wards in which fever patients are confined and in addition to its use for cooling residences and hotels, he says it solves the problem of individual cold storage.

Prof. Moore's invention, in addition to reducing temperature, washes, cleanses and renders the air dry and healthful. Hot air, filled with dust, is taken into the machine at a temperature of nearly 100 degrees and expelled almost instantly at a emeperature of thirty degrees and with its relative humidity lessened by more than half. The machine operates, as its name half. The machine operates, as its name implies, on the principle of gravity. That is, it makes use of the difference in weight between air at a high and at a low temperature. It is, moreover, automatic. It requires no motive power, and is self-adjusting. When the weather is very hot the machine works faster than when it is only moderately warm, and when the weather is temperate, the machine ceases its operations altogether. It is necessary to change the machine only once a day, preferably in the morning, and it will then automatically keep the dwelling in which it is placed at a cool, even temperature.

The Gravity Cooler will, like stoves, be manufactured in all sizes from a small Treasury Success, happiness, practically all of the good things of life, depend on good health.

Most of the failures, the woes of life, rest their origin and continuance in bad health.

The possibilities represented by the OR in "Good Health on Bad Health" certainly are gigantic, aren't they? Proper food, more than any one other thing, represents the difference between good health or bad health. Any physician will tell you that a proper mixture of the whole of the wheat and barley, malt is pre-eminently a proper food, one that builds normally, tones evenly, nourishes sufficiently every organ of the body.

"FORCE" is composed of the whole of the wheat and barley malt scientifically combined in the form of a delicate, crisp flake. It cannot lose its good qualities in faulty y cooking, for it is ready to be put on the table when it reaches the house.

There's another OR worth considering—a hot kitchen fire on a that summer day. OR OR is a little word, but gigantic in possibilities.
